Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 2-3, 5-9, 12-15, 18-23, 36-39 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Martinez (U.S. 5,306,223). Martinez discloses a pad assembly comprising a compressible layer (34) having an uncompressed, non-uniform thickness, and an elongated plate member or backing plate (36) of approximately uniform thickness having front and back surfaces, the front surface being engaged with the second surface of the compressible layer, and wherein the front surface of the elongate plate member is shaped to be capable of providing an approximately uniform-thickness of the compressible layer during exercise. Martinez further teaches the front surface of the elongated plate member or backing member comprising a contoured concave support attached to the second surface of the compressible pad. Martinez further teaches the approximately uniform thickness portion being co-extensive with a portion of the first surface adapted to engaged the portion of the user's body. As best understood, Martinez is capable of providing an approximately uniform-pressure portion when a compression force is applied to the first surface. Martinez also discloses a coupling assembly (30) coupled to the back surface of the elongated plate member adapted to attach to an exercise machine. Referring to claims 36-39, Martinez discloses the claimed structural limitations as well as method steps as claimed by the applicant.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 4, 16-17, 22, and 40-41 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Martinez alone. With regards to claim 4, 16, and 22, the specific range of radius of curvature is considered a matter of design choice within the knowledge of the skilled artisan as no inherent advantage nor specific purpose is met by the specified range, and it appears that the configuration of Martinez would perform equally well absent unexpected or undesired results.

5. With respect to claim 17, Martinez discloses the claimed invention except for the specific material of the compressible pad. The specific material chosen would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention as the skilled artisan would choose a material based on the suitability for its intended use.

6. With regards to claims 40-41, Martinez teaches a pad capable of being pressed by the arms or shoulders of a user.

Response to Arguments

Art Unit: 3764

7. Applicant's arguments with respect to the claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

8. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
